
Serbia: Parliamentary election. Krastev (Balkans analyst), “triumph for Vucic, Parliament without opposition. Reforms now”

“The landslide victory in the parliamentary election is clearly a triumph for Aleksandar Vucic. There will be virtually no opposition in Parliament”, said political analyst for the Balkans, Nikolay Krastev, in an interview with SIR news agency, following the election in Serbia which brought to power again, with 62.7% of the vote, the conservative Progressive Party led by Serbian President Aleksandar Vucic.
